COMPANY PROFILE

Our innovative platform was born out of a passion for music and technology. Our mission is to make the lives of musicians easier through advanced tools for distribution and promotion. The platform offers a range of solutions, from licensing music for games and marketing, to connecting artists with influencers and creating NFTs for music royalties.

Working with us means being part of a dynamic and creative environment where innovation is at the heart of everything we do. With a diverse team of specialists, including many musicians, we strive to help musicians reach their full potential without worrying about the business side of their careers. We pride ourselves on our transparent working methods and encourage collaboration through agile methodologies such as Scrum and daily stand-ups.

We are still very much in the start-up phase, and it is important for potential team members to understand that this is the prevailing culture. With a wealthy angel investor backing us, the company has the capital to ensure job security.

ROLE DESCRIPTION

As a frontend developer, you will play a crucial role in developing and maintaining our artist tools. You will work closely with both the front-end and back-end teams to build new product features and implement technical improvements. We have recently set up a new frontend application in Next.js, and your expertise will be invaluable in further optimizing and integrating this with our other tools.

You will be responsible for analyzing and implementing performance optimizations and working on projects that directly contribute to the growth and success of artists. We are looking for someone who is not only technically strong but also capable of leading a team and experienced in hiring new team members. You will work closely with the CMO/PO, CEO, and other key figures within the company, making communication skills and stakeholder management crucial in your role.
