THE COMPANY

How does it sound to work for the first Dutch crypto company that received registration from De Nederlandsche Bank?

With many crypto services, this investment company helps maintain and grow clients' wealth. Cryptocurrency services are needed as the financial world changes. Rising inflation and negative savings rates mean that we are becoming 'sleeping poor'.

Our client's services break that negative trend. We believe in a decentralized financial future. Our client aims to make Bitcoin and other digital assets a logical part of our daily lives. For us, responsible investing in bitcoin and other cryptocurrencies is investing in the technology of the future. As a permanent partner of the BNR Cryptocast, our client contributes not only to services, but also to the development of the financial system of the future by sharing knowledge.

Our client has been growing really hard for the past two years, building up a team of 50+ people. You will join a great team, ambitious, and really want to change the way of investing and buying crypto.

It's now time to upgrade the services, and they are ready to build their own app for their clients. But they need some help, and that's why they are looking for an iOS developer!

But what are they expecting from you as a new iOS developer?

THE JOB

As an iOS Developer you make an impact because your work is immediately visible to the organization and our end users. Their app is still relatively in the early stages of development and the implementation of new features and possibilities will mainly be further developed by you.

The app gives end users insights into balances and transactions in the crypto positions
